

Announcing the Winner of The Mandy Goetze 21st Century Award 2008 to Hannah Sorscher

Each year, we present an award named for one of the dynamic founders of TIAW to one of our members who personifies the TIAW mission. This year, that award goes to our dear friend and past president, Hannah Sorscher.

In her day job, Hannah Sorscher is CFO for the Citi Cards Canada business of Citigroup, capping a 27 year career with Citigroup that has included senior roles in New York, Sydney, Australia, Tokyo, London and now Toronto.

Hannah's devotion to, and passion for TIAW is well known within the organization. Hannah first became involved through TIAW member group Foreign Executive Women (FEW) in Tokyo, Japan and later continued as a member of Financial Women's Association of New York. Hannah's willingness to get involved, her great ability and energy served TIAW well for many years. Hannah served on the TIAW board, often flying out of London to attend board meetings on weekends. As the Secretary for TIAW she used her time on the long flights to do the minutes so that by the time she arrived back in London, they were all ready to send back to the Board, just a small example of Hannah's fierce dedication and efficiency! Hannah has served TIAW as Secretary, Treasurer, 2nd Vice President and VP of Membership and then as President in 2004 and 2005. During her term as President we celebrated TIAW's 25th Anniversary, published a TIAW 25th Anniversary History Book, and raised the funds for 25 Village Banks as part of our Microenterprise Program.

From its inception, Hannah was a key member of the TIAW Microenterprise Program and served as Treasurer for the program for several years. In addition to the superhuman effort of donating her time and expertise so selflessly, Hannah and her husband Frank have also been strong financial supporters of TIAW over the years, including fully funding several Village Banks for women in developing countries.

Hannah participated in many TIAW International Trips and conferences, always working hard to contribute all she could in time, energy and devotion to ensured they were a great success.

TIAW is honored to recognize Hannah for all of her outstanding contributions to TIAW with The Mandy Goetze 21st Century Award for 2008.
